Dear Dr. Perez:

Thank you very much for your letter of April 25th and your inquiry about a training position in Magnetic Resonance Imaging in our Department.

We have been able to offer training in magnetic resonance to a number of radiologists outside the United States, but in these instances, the radiologist have been financially self-supporting. Unfortunately, our research funds do not include monies allocated for support of training positions. If you could arrange for full financial support, we could consider a training position in which you could participate in basic or clinical research in our MRI Section.

Thank you very much for your inquiry and give my best regards to Dr. Pedrosa.

Yours sincerely,

W. Dennis Foley, M.D.
Professor of Radiology
Co-Director
Section of Digital Imaging
